Mr. Ravindra Kale, Librarian,
Shree Somnath Sanskrit University, Veraval.

Internet means networks of networks. The Present era is known as Information Technology (IT) Era. In this era due to IT huge amount of literature published around the world, either in print format or in electronic format. Now a day's Information on various subjects available on the World Wide Web (WWW) due to its tremendous development. The Information available on the Internet is two kinds paid and free. The Paid Literature provided in the form of Database of Books, Periodicals, Collection of Articles by their respective publishers or Content providers. Besides this, there is free content available in almost all subjects.(1)

I have tried in paper to give only links of the various sites on the Internet which have Sanskrit E-resources available, some of them are free and some are uploaded by the respective website owner which may not copyright free.

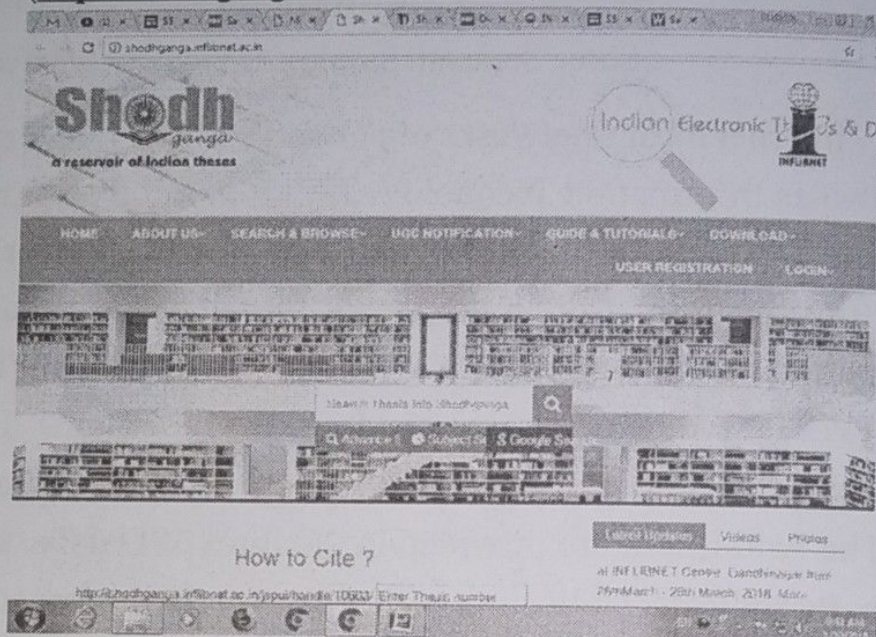

In the field of Sanskrit Literature, there is some gap between the content creator and availability of the publication on the Internet. There are lots of Sanskrit Literature published in print form across India by Individuals and Publishers. There is no commercial database available like having in science and technology and other subjects in the field of Sanskrit and its allied subject.

I herewith give you a Compiled list of various websites available on the Internet having Sanskrit Literature which will be very useful for Researchers, Students and Sanskrit Lovers.

Almost 30 years ago, in November 1987, a first meeting was held to explore using SGML (Standard Generalized Markup Language) for dissertations as part of the Electronic Manuscript Project. This event and others in the first decade of activities related to the Networked Digital Library of Theses and Dissertations, NDLTD (<http://ndltd.org>) are described in <http://fox.cs.vt.edu/pub/ETD/ETD.html>. Many early key events had been in the USA, including the U.S. Department of Education award by 9/1/1996 to "improve Graduate Education with a National Digital Library of Theses and Dissertations (NDLTD)".
